Eliza's Will:

I, Eliza Clark, of Inglewood, Taranaki, New Zealand, wife of Charles CLARK declare this to be my last will and testament. I give and bequeath to my son Amos a photo of his grandfather and grandmother and a Bedstead and Bedding, to my son Charles I give and bequeath 1 Bedstead and a photo of myself and Husband to him, and to my son Harry 1 Bedstead and Bedding, to my daughter Mrs Sarah Beattie Bedstead and Bedding from my bedroom, to my daughter Nellie 1.3/4 Bedstead and Bedding and to my grandson Richard the Chest of Drawers in my bedroom. The balance of the furniture to be sold and after paying my just debts the balance if any to be legally divided between my sons Amos and Harry. I also give the right to my Husband to use the detached room or the "back of the residence" free of charge for the rest of his life and I also leave to him the rest of the residence or any money accruing from or after paying all interest and expenses. After the death of my husband Charles CLARK I desire that the property section 209 Inglewood together with any improvements thereon shall be sold and proceeds arising therefrom to be equally divided amongst my children, after all monies due on the property and expenses have been paid out out the proceeds.

And I appoint George William BENNETT of Inglewood my Executor.
As witness my hand this ninth day of December 1902

Signed by Testator and is her last will and testament in the presence of each other hereunto sign our names as witnesses and we witness the Testator make her mark after reading the Will over to her.
